How to block purchasing inappropriate apps on iOS

To begin, head over to Settings > General > Restrictions and tap Enable Restrictions to set a password and get started restricting functions.

1. Restricting Built-in Apps

After enabling Restrictions, under the Allow section in the Restrictions settings, you will see switches for Safari, YouTube, Camera, FaceTime, iTunes, Ping, Installing Apps, and Deleting Apps.

Flip the switch to turn off the selected function. Simply flip the switch from ON to OFF and the function will be disabled. When the function is turned off, the application will be hidden on the Home Screen.

2. Restricting Changes

In addition to built-in applications, you can also restrict changes to Location, Accounts, and Find My Friends.
Location-based restrictions are particularly important if you wish to disable certain location functions. To open Location restrictions, tap Location within the Restrictions section.

Tapping on the Allow Changes section will let you allow or disallow changes in order to prevent new apps from using location services. You can disable Location Services completely or on a per-application basis.
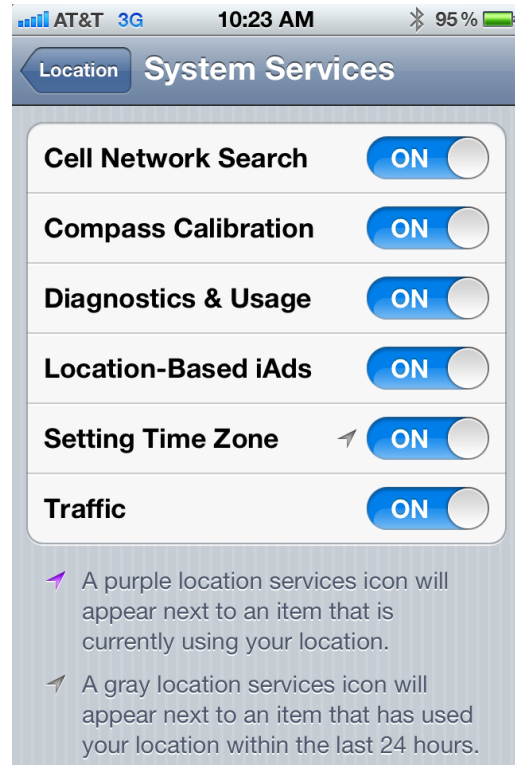

In this same section, a purple location icon will appear next to an item that is currently using your location; a gray icon will appear beside items that have used location info in the past 24-hours.

Tapping on Accounts or Find My Friends will also allow you to allow or disallow changes for those functions.

Scrolling down to the bottom of the Location section will let you change System Services settings.

From this screen, you can disable Cell Network Search, Compass Calibration, Diagnostics & Usage and Setting Time Zone.
3. Restricting Content

Under the Allowed Content section, you can set restrictions for Ratings for Music & Podcasts, Movies, TV Shows, and Apps. Tapping on any of these functions will allow you to set a maximum rating to allow.

In the Ratings For section, you can select the rating system to use; by default it will be set to your country.

Also in this section, you can disable In-App Purchases, and set the time that purchases are allowed after the Restriction password has been entered. You can select 15 minutes, or immediately for the time that the password is required.

4. Restricting Game Center

Reduce Game Center functions with just a tap. The last options for Restrictions are the Game Center settings (see image above). In this section, you can disable multiplayer games and adding friends.
